Operations for Business

InfraService is in the business of putting other businesses in business. From workplace development, to operations staffing, to technical consulting; we provide the expertise needed to develop the infrastructure required for bringing your business concepts to life.

InfraService is a network of contacts – ready made – bringing the right people and resources together. We develop and provide core business infrastructure services.

Technology is our core competency

Our business is understanding technology and business operations. We look ahead at emerging trends and assess their suitability for implementation on behalf of our clients. We consult to create a custom environment to suit your requirements, specifications, and budgets. We're available to your business not just when you need to place a tech-support call, but in an ongoing capacity to manage and consult on any infrastructure, or operational issue.

We have the experience you can use to make things happen

You probably got started creating a business operation to realize a greater goal. You have a specialty that, likely, is not creating technologically savvy workplaces. Our specialty is the efficient application of current technology for the workplace to create the environment for you to exercise your core competencies with efficiency. You're free to focus on your premium billable tasks, confident in the knowledge that the details of the platform are competently managed by InfraService.

InfraService clients' business models are often project-based, requiring rapid start-up deployments, and efficient liquidations upon conclusion. Some examples include computer animation production studios; architectural, engineering and design firms; training and private schools; or trade show exhibitors. Some clients prefer outsourcing their network and logical security management to InfraService while they focus on growth and product development as an entrepreneurial business. Our unique, customized methods of consultation and operation allow us to provide service and expertise to support you through many possible scenarios.

The goal for InfraService is to be your trusted partner in business

Our success is assisting your growth and development in the market to the point where your internal management of infrastructure makes good budgetary sense. Your market success becomes our success.

We provide the expertise and experience you'd expect to have internally at a later, larger stage of your business' development. In the early stages of start-up, a business often doesn't have the budget to support a technology analyst, facility manager, or a systems manager. Nor do they have the requirement for these kinds of specialized resources full-time. But at the same time, the start-up business is making operational and technical decisions that can have a significant impact on their future growth. InfraService is uniquely qualified to work with you in providing fractional resources and dynamic resource assignment. Our staff of associates can work as part of your organization, or from our premises, to provide the business infrastructure best suited to your requirements.

If you'd like to explore the advantage of a business infrastructure "partner" with more than 20 years of experience in the IS/IT and operations field please contact us for an initial consultation.
